Narrow Escape from Drowning

Tuesday morning a fatal accident by drowning was averted by a strange and providential coincidence. As Mell Sampson was going up the lake with a private car was accidentally lost overboard near Cole's Island where S. H. Hayden's chauffeur, Orrie Brown and family are stopping for the summer. While stopping to recover the car, the party was detained just long enough to witness a near tragedy.

One of the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Brown who is about four years old had fallen into the lake while playing on the shore. His mother who was sitting on the cottage piazza saw him helpless in the water and in frantic haste to rescue her little son ran and threw herself into the lake rather than carefully trying to wade out to him in the shallow water. She could not swim and floundered helplessly away from the shore. Mell quickly taking in the situation started for the shore and soon had the exhausted mother and child in the cottage.

The little fellow cried lustily but was soon all right again. Luckily there was a doctor in the party, Dr. H. B. Esmond of St. Albans, Vt. who always carries a small medicine case with him. He gave Mrs. Brown a heart stimulant as she was low and nearly insensible, having hit her head on a rock in her struggles. She was white with fright but recovered from the shock and exertion in a short time. It would almost seem that the days of miracles has not yet passed for had it not been for the lost car, both would probably have been drowned.

Lovejoy-Kneeland

One of the prettiest of June weddings was held on Wednesday, June 21st in Waterford, when Eleanor, only daughter of Warren U. and Rosa (Ward) Kneeland was united in marriage with Fred J. Lovejoy, son of G. A. G. and Imogene (Frost) Lovejoy of Norway.

The day seemed to have been especially ordered, for the sun, which had been hidden behind dull gray clouds for weeks burst forth in all his glory, and shining down on the vivid green of forest and field, with the deep blue of the sky above formed a beautiful and fitting picture for the occasion.

The marriage was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of either family, these however made quite a circle.

The bride was gowned in white India silk, trimmed with bridal roses and chiffon. She wore a veil with a wreath of feather orange blossoms. These were an heirloom of the family and were brought from the Madeira Isles, fully sixty years ago in an inland box in which they are still kept. They are made from the natural colors and were very artistic and beautiful.

At high noon the young couple accompanied by best man, brides maid, flower girls and ring bearers, entered the room and stood under an arch of evergreen and blue iris, the bride carrying a bouquet of bridal roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. D. A. Ball of West Paris, who used the double ring service. Alpheus and Elizabeth Jackson, nephew and niece of the groom were ring bearers and bore the rings in pink carnations.

The flower girls, Vera Westleigh, niece of the groom and Frances Berry, cousin of the bride, scattered beautiful flowers along their path. They were prettily gowned in white with pink ribbons.

The brides maid, Marjorie Pride, a life long friend of the bride was gowned in white silk muslin and carried pink carnations. The best man was Rolfe Dismore of Norway. Ward Steady, cousin of the bride, played the march and wedding music.

Following the wedding a reception was held at which there was over one hundred guests. Friends gathered from far and near bringing beautiful presents of china, cut glass, silver and linen, all tokens of love and esteem for the young people.

The groom is a prosperous farmer in the neighborhood of Milletville, Norway. He is a prominent Mason, Odd Fellow and Granger, and held in the highest esteem by all.

The ushers were Cleveland Kneeland from Salem, Mass., an only brother of Mrs. H. L. Bartlett, Harriet Craig, Mrs. H. L. Bartlett, Florence A. Bideout, Maud E. Pike, Hazel Foster, Mrs. Chester Gates, Christine Leavitt, Mrs. W. J. Wheeler, Mrs. Ellen R. Stearns, Mrs. E. F. Bicknell, Mrs. Julius Peterson.

Mrs. Louisa A. Richardson

Mrs. Louisa A. Richardson, wife of Albert Richardson, passed away at her home Monday, July 17. For sometime Mrs. Richardson has been in failing health due to a shock. She has been able to be wheeled in a chair and Monday morning she got up as usual, then suddenly passed away.

Mrs. Richardson was born in Harrison, Nov. 12th, 1848. Her parents were Parker Lakin and Nancy Lakin. She went to school in Bridgton, and has lived in Bridgton, Harrison, and Norway.

She is survived by her husband, Albert Richardson, by two daughters, Mrs. Chas. P. Barker of Houlton and Mrs. Ethel Fogg of Norway, also a brother and sister. The funeral services took place at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with interment in Pine Grove Cemetery.

A Lawn Party The residence of A. J. Stearns on Orchard Street was the scene of a most delightful summer fete on Wednesday afternoon from three to five. This fete was in reality a dainty shower—for there were showers and showers—given by Mrs. A. J. Stearns and Mrs. Carl E. Stone in honor of Grace B. Bicknell who is soon to marry Edward Eisenwinter of Waterbury, Connecticut.

The first of the afternoon was spent in a social way, and in greeting friends who have returned to town for the summer months. The guests were then most delightfully entertained with piano and vocal solos by Maude Ellen Pike, readings by Dora Kerwin, and vocal solos by Mrs. Roy Cole. The surprise of the afternoon followed. Mrs. Carl Stone read a poem which told of fairy tokens hidden in shady nooks, and asked the Lady, Miss Bicknell, to find their hiding place.

Then Mrs. Stone impersonated Queen Canstatt, revealed the hidden tokens. After all of the gifts had been gathered they were opened by the guest of honor.

Small tables were placed about the lawn and dainty refreshments of pineapple sherbet, fruit punch, and fancy cakes were served. The present were Mrs. Bicknell, Dora Kerwin, Agnes Sanborn, Mrs. James N. Pavor, Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Roy E. Cole, Mrs. Edwin S. Cummings, Mrs. George I. Cummings, Mrs. Ralph P. NEW PERFECTION KITCHEN PRIMER

LESSON 8

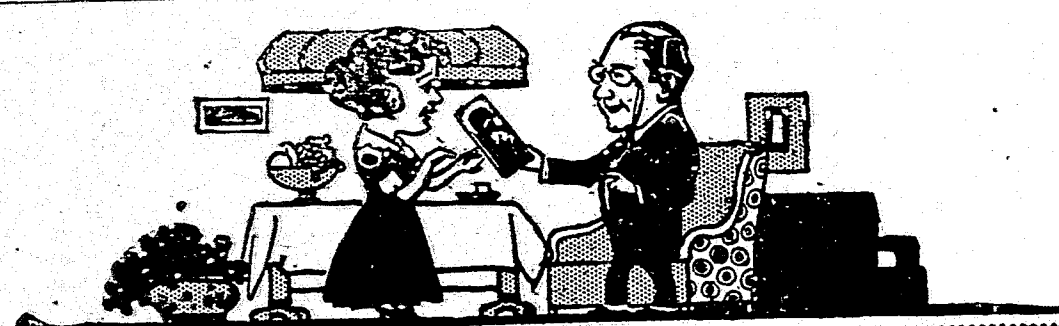

THE BUNGALOW

Is a bungalow a place to rough it?
No; a bungalow is a place to be comfortable.
How can one be comfortable in a bungalow?
By equipping the kitchen with a New Perfection Oil Cook Stove. It is as quick and reliable as gas; the long blue chimney prevents smoke and odor. Inexpensive, too; costs only about six cents a day for fuel.
Look for the long blue chimney—that is the way to recognize the cook stove that has proven its worth in 2,000,000 American homes. The 1916 models have the new patented reversible glass reservoir and many other improvements. Sold in 1, 2, 3, and 4 burner sizes (by hardware and furniture dealers and general stores) everywhere.

LOOK FOR THE LONG BLUE CHIMNEY

SYSTEMATIZE your household expenses by opening a bank account for your wife. Give her a check book and teach her the use of it. Pay the butcher, the grocer, the baker, with a check. Then at the end of the month you'll find out just how much it costs you to run the home. When payment by check is made there never is any doubt as to whether or not a bill is paid. The check is a receipt.
Besides, a checking account will give your wife a business education. The number of ordinarily bright women who know absolutely nothing of banking is surprising. If you are a husband, father, brother, you cannot tell when death may overtake you, and it is well that your wife, daughter and sister know something of banking.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND TODAY TO GIVE YOUR WIFE A CHECK BOOK.

We pay 2 per cent. interest on check account of $500 and over, on even hundreds. Interest credited to your account last of every month.

HARKEN BACK ON THE PAST

Thirty-five years ago last week the little steamer did a thriving business on the 4th. She took 200 passengers to Gibson's Grove. A grange picnic was there.
Hathaway's new block is nearly completed. S. L. Crockett, druggist on first floor; Black & Holt, lawyers, 2nd floor; also Dr. Tubbs, dentist, and K. of P. on 3rd floor.
For June freight on Branch going out was 3,186 tons, inward 1,920 tons, passengers, 3,135.

Twenty-five Years Ago Last Week
Frank H. Hurd, the blacksmith, started for Montana Monday morning. Mrs. Seth Pike and daughter, Miss Stella, have gone to Old Orchard for a vacation.

Much is said about the free sewing school. This time they have a picnic and go in J. M. Cummings' barge, Miss L. G. Stone is the hostess and soon goes to Bryant's Pond.

S. S. Smith has marketed some 1,500 quarts of strawberries this season. Mrs. Henry Reed observed her 87th birthday. Some 40 relatives and friends were present.

Ex-Vice President Hon. Hamlin Hamlin is dead and flags are at half-mast. The Paris Manufacturing Co. has assigned for the benefit of their creditors. Geo. A. Wilson is the assignee. Liabilities $138,000.00, estimated assets $144,000.00.

The Cole Brothers of Washington, D. C., contemplate the building of a three story block, 100 x 80 feet in Bethel. The town and highway tax are in the hands of collector Colman F. Lord. The rate of town tax is 14 mills.

Vern M. Whitman will enter the office of Judge Whitman and begin reading law this vacation.

The 4th at Camp Bruin.

The crowd all assembled in front of Howe and Riddell's store, Saturday night. We noticed Chas. Riddell and wife, Henry Foster, Fred Cummings, Will Noble, Winn Wood, Nettie Fuller, Laura Jordan, Jennie Cole and Cora Shedd.

All were at last ready and at that mysterious hour of midnight, they departed in Adams' barge for Camp Bruin, Hanover. A pleasant eventful ride of seven hours was enjoyed by all, reaching their destination at 7 a. m., Sunday.

The chief object of the male portion of the crowd was to fish, but as the first day was Sunday, of course they must wait which they did, passing the time in smoking, talking, singing and listening to selections on the cornet under the masterly touch of Chas. Riddell, while the girls were quietly sleeping in the chambers above.

But the time at last came to fish and the boys departed leaving the girls to watch for bears. Not far from the camp was a trap and at nearly every hour of our stay some one of the party would be seen anxiously looking toward this bear trap, or returning from the same with disappointed looking faces.

After long hours of waiting the boys returned, their faces wreathed in smiles and their fish baskets groaning under the weight of five hundred fine trout, the average size being about four pounds, 90 of these being caught by Chas. Riddell. Being refreshed by a trout supper all gladly accepted the invitation of Mr. Holt and wife of Hanover to celebrate with them at Birch Lodge.

After the grand display of fire works, ice cream and cake were served. At 10:15 the barge was due at Mt. Bruin, so bidding a hasty good night we were soon rattling over the stony roads of Hanover on the way home.

Nothing of importance occurred until we reached Rumford Point, where the train of male reached us from a neighboring hall. In an instant the barge was vacated and the Hanover Club was soon moving to measures of a lively waltz. That being over we started once more for Norway.

Arriving at the home of Walter Mann at Milton Plantation, we found it decorated with Chinese lanterns, while in the tower were these letters of fire "Norway 20 miles." At the gate was a pair of ice cold lemonade. This we gladly drank and with three cheers for their kindness we left them to peaceful slumbers.

We reached Norway, Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock, all voting it to be the best time yet, and thanking Fred for his kindness, we separated, hoping to again enjoy the hospitality of Camp Bruin.

South Paris Wheel Club's Tournament
The wheelmen met in front of the South Paris Wheel Club's room at 11 a. m., and after being photographed, formed in line with the S. P. W. C. first, following these the Lewiston and Auburn Wheel Club and next the unattached wheelmen followed by four horsemen.

After riding through the streets of Paris they went to Norway and then to the fair grounds, where the racing began at 1 p. m.

The Norway Band was in attendance and furnished excellent music.
Three of the races were won by L. P. Sweet. The team race by the Lewiston team, although Sweet was first.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week
Jim Pledge's meat cart is now "on the road."

Late postmaster, A. J. Rowe, is traveling salesman for the P. J. Rowe Manufacturing Co. of Lancaster, N. H.

Capt. Ames will have a moonlight excursion on the lake next Saturday evening. Norway Brass Band in attendance.

Leavitt sold 9000 boiler handles during June.

Sadie Farrar caught a two and one-fourth pound bass.

Green pond sell for $1.00 per bushel. Eggs, 20 cents per dozen; new potatoes for $1.75 per bushel, and hard to get. Strawberries, 15 cents per box.

L. I. Gilbert weighs 271½ and Chas. G. Mason, 294½ pounds. Mason is six ft., one and one-half inches and Gilbert five feet, eleven and one-half inches tall.

Charles G. Mason is dead but Mr. Gilbert is with us, though probably not as heavy.

BETHEL

On account of an accident, by which Rev. J. H. Little received a fracture of his ribs, he was unable to preach Sunday and the parish officers have added the last two Sundays in July to the August vacation and the Universalist church will remain closed till the first Sunday in September. Mr. Little, Mrs. Little and Mrs. J. S. Burbank go to South Freeport this week, where they will remain until September. Their P. O. address during the time, will be South Freeport, Me., Box 3, and they can be reached by telephone at the South Freeport station.

The annual fair to be held by the ladies of the Universalist parish, will be on Wednesday, July 26, afternoon and evening in the chapel, with a supper in the banquet room at 6:15 p. m.

There was a pretty wedding service at the residence of Rev. J. H. Little last Saturday morning. Ezra P. Chapman of North Newry and Nellie W. Howard of Hanover, were united in marriage, using the single ring service.

Bethel Inn is a popular place for visitors to this summer resort and whether it is a stay for the night or for dinner or a longer period the genial manager makes all who come feel as they depart that they want to come again. Antos are seen here which came from Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Ohio, as well as from the nearby states. There are days when the "Inn" is full to overflowing. Maple Inn on Main street is also having a good share of the patronage of the travelling public.

Bethel Grange has been very prosperous this last winter and spring, receiving new members and in improving their hall. Last year they disposed of an old piano and an organ and bought a nice piano of W. J. Wheeler for $150. Now there is only $50 more to pay on the bill.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.
To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.
Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief.

Skim out the rhubarb the following morning and boil the sugar and fruit for 20 minutes; then add the rhubarb and cook for about 25 minutes after it again begins to boil. Keep The Town Clean

A clean town attracts attention whenever and wherever it is seen. A dirty town catches the public eye in even less time.

When the streets and alleys and yards and vacant lots in a town are clean and sanitary, it bespeaks a like condition on the part of the residents with regard to their personal habits.

The Lord loves a clean woman, and the devil worships a dirty one. Which do you prefer?

If each person in this town would use just a little more energy and thought, thus we could make this one of the cleanest spots in the country and our reputation would grow apace.

Not only would we benefit thusly, but the health of the community would be vastly improved and the physical capacity of the people would be greatly increased.

A clean man works with pleasure and with a definite object in view. Generally he gets there.

The dirty laborer from necessity only, has no ambition, and is the black eye that kills the town in the eyes of other people.

Keep the town clean.

A Journey of 2,500 Miles in the West.

Marietta, Ohio, July 11, 1916.

Dear Advertiser:
Under date of July 2, A. M. Pottle writes me from Lovell that the blueberries are about half grown and that I should start about the first of August if I wish to get lots of them. So about that time I plan to pack my grip and journey as fast as steam will take me to the Old Pine Tree State to feast upon the luscious blackberries and blueberries and visit for the seventh, and probably for the last time, the dear old home land, and visit with the few remaining old time friends. Five years have elapsed since my last visit to Maine, and I will find many vacant chairs amongst my old time friends and of those of the younger generation. Among those greatly missed will be Riga Pottle and wife, Mrs. Benjamin Russell, Eckley Stearns and Dean Russell, all of Lovell Center.

A little over two weeks ago I returned from a two months' visit to my old home at Hurler, D. As usual in going, I visited over Sunday with the Healds at the great University city of Madison, Wis. I found Henry and Hitty brisk and lively for people of their age (he is 81). Mrs. Heald attends to all her household duties alone, and Henry with his own hands plants and cares for a fine garden, looks after the small fruit, tends the furnace, hitches up the family horse to plow the garden, or go for a ride, and occasionally takes a mile walk as he did with me to visit the grocery store and meat market. We visited and talked for hours about the good old times long, long ago, when we were boys together.

I tried to remind him of the time when he and his cousin George Stearns had a fight and George kicked him over the eye, so as to make it all black and blue, but he said he could not remember it at all. I remember it well although I was but a small boy. And that the teacher, Isaac Hamblin, called both of the big boys out onto the floor and lectured them upon the sin of fighting until the tears ran down their cheeks. The hour of parting came and I bade these dear old friends good-bye and journeyed west, and the Old Homestead farm, where I had lived about six weeks among people and scenes that have been familiar to me for more than forty years. I postponed my trip to Wyoming to another year as I did not have time to go there and make my Maine trip. Although Hurler has a population of only about 300, yet it is a full fledged city, with Mayor, Aldermen, Marshal, etc., and I feel proud of the little city, because I have seen it grow from a country farm to its present fair proportion. Although they have plenty of arable land, water, yet the city is dry and has been for years. They own their own electric the vast amount of publicity the past half-decade has been given by word of mouth and press as to the necessity for the use of preventive medicine in the antitoxin treatment in the statistics which show the actual workings of this phase of medical practice, from a news item in the New York Times as follows:

By the department of health, a antitoxin since 1907 has reduced either the prevalence or the percentage of deaths, in the last five years.

In 1907, there were 15,000 deaths from diphtheria, as against 12,000 in 1906. The number of reported cases in 1907, as against 1906, was 138,942, and the percentage of fatal cases was 9.7 per cent. In 1915, as against 1914, the number of reported cases was 102,242, and the percentage of fatal cases was 8.2, as against 9.7 in 1914.

In a five-year period the number of deaths from diphtheria, as against 1907, has been reduced to 10,000, and the percentage of fatal cases was 8.2, as against 9.7 in 1907.

These figures it will be seen that for which there is no antitoxin, the percentage of fatal cases was one-half per cent. less in 1915 than in 1907. On the other hand, for which there is no antitoxin, the percentage of fatal cases was one-half per cent. less in 1915 than in 1907.

In fact we might be saying that the practice of using antitoxin has been a large falling off in the number of cases reported and in the percentage of fatal cases. It is not so much as has been said. In fact we might be saying that the practice of using antitoxin has been a large falling off in the number of cases reported and in the percentage of fatal cases.

Interesting item bearing upon the efficacy of "preventive medicine" from the editorial column of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, dated July 28, 1915:

Brought forward in the weekly "Science and Health" section of the Boston Herald, for the calendar year 1914, the number of deaths from diphtheria in the city of Boston was 237. Elias Dudley and Some of His Political Correspondence," with notes by the editor; "Major John Moore," by A. W. Stewart of Augusta; "The Maine of Joseph Robinson Parrott," by Charles E. Waterman; "The Relations Between Bowdoin and the Judiciary," an article and an editorial on the proposed Mt. ONE AUTO TO 44 PERSONS
There is one motor car in the United States for every forty-four persons. No invention of modern times has ever come into such immediate popularity, for both a pleasure and business it meets with the highest favor. It annihilates space and brings the various communities into closer relationship. When we read of some of the rides taken in a day and reflect that the railroads are hardly capable of the performance with out tireless waits, we are apt to place the motor car in a class by itself. Not only that, the use of the car has made for better roads for all sorts of traffic, and the end is not yet.

COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA COURSE

Norway and South Paris' first Chautauqua Course attracted large crowds. Entertainment that entertained. Assured event for 1917.

The Chautauqua sessions opened Thursday afternoon, July 13, at 8 o'clock, at the Fair Grounds, with about 200 in attendance.

The big tent in which the sessions were held was located near the main entrance between the eating houses and the race track. A high outer canvas wall surrounded the tent proper, being some distance from the tent, and giving opportunity for the air to circulate through the tent, as by this arrangement the walls of the tent were kept rolled up without making the concerts generally public. The entrance was straight ahead from the Fair Ground gate and the stage was on one's left as one entered. The seats were all on the same level, being placed on the ground and not arranged like circus seats, as some supposed they would be. However, the stage was elevated high enough so that all could easily see. The stage was decorated in the Chautauqua colors of red, white and blue. Two large American flags with a Chautauqua banner between them made a fitting background.

The management in the opening address stated that on account of the extreme heat they were delayed in getting the tent ready and thus explained the delay until 8 o'clock. However, the management stated that thereafter the sessions would commence promptly on time, at 2:30 in the afternoon and 8:00 in the evening. It was to be distinctly understood that the Chautauqua was unlike any meeting and would not wait for the audience to increase, however small it might be. The audience was addressed as "ladies," as it was made up mainly of the fairer sex. The speaker expressed his regret at seeing so small an audience at an opening session of the Chautauqua, but expressed his opinion that those present would be so pleased with the afternoon's entertainment that they would return bringing with them their friends in the evening. He then introduced the American Quartet as the most versatile quartet on the stage, and many were those who agreed with him after hearing their entertaining concert, which constituted the entire performance of the afternoon.

Mr. Gilbert of the quartet introduced each member of the quartet to "get acquainted," as he said. Those in the quartet were: Paul Fairchild, Clayton Conrad, Harry Thompson, and in introducing himself Mr. Gilbert said: "Mr. Fairchild was the pianist, Mr. Conrad, cartoonist, Mr. Thompson, soloist, and Mr. Gilbert, reader."

The concert consisted of instrumental music, quartet and solo vocal selections, readings, and cartoon drawings. All was of a high class and sterling quality with which everyone was greatly pleased, and came away satisfied that the Chautauqua was a great benefit to the community and a chance in a lifetime for lovers of good music.

Thursday evening—in spite of the showers Thursday evening, a moderately large audience was on hand at 8 o'clock to enjoy the program that was promised in the afternoon to begin at 7:30 sharp. However, the concert did not begin until 8 o'clock, as the local men interested had requested that the concert should begin at 8 o'clock thereafter.

Considerable time was spent in giving a history of the Chautauqua and making the citizens of the community to buy season tickets and thus support the merchants who had been instrumental in bringing to the community so instructive and entertaining a series of lectures and musical numbers as are given by this organization.

The program began with a prelude of several numbers by the American Quartet and the strained attention of the audience did homage to its successes. The applause was hearty and well deserved. Clayton Conrad in his chalk talks and drawings, was a popular feature, and the character part taken by Mr. Gilbert in his reading was a tremendous success. Nothing too good could be said of this versatile and pleasing quartet.

Following the musical prelude, Lee Francis Lybarger, member of the Philadelphia bar, gave a brief outline of his lecture on "The Community Conscience." His discussion contained the idea that "no man lives unto himself alone." He said that in the ideal community, community spirit should be co-extensive with that of personal gain and betterment.

Friday afternoon—True to its word, the management started the concert promptly at 2:30 o'clock before the largest audience the Chautauqua sessions had thus far brought together under the big tent. The afternoon was perfect and afforded an opportunity for automobile parties to come in from the surrounding towns. Oxford people in particular took advantage of this opportunity. Although there was no breeze and it was fairly warm in the tent, the whole audience as one were held in rapt attention by the famous artist.

The entire program for the afternoon consisted of a violin recital by the world famous violinist, Ole Theobaldi, assisted by Florence Alice Stiffel, operatic soprano and Mlle. Helen Kelen, piano virtuoso and accompanist.

Dr. Theobaldi has played before the crowned heads of Europe but it is doubtful whether he ever played before a more appreciative audience. The close attention and the hearty applause were evidence of the tribute paid to his master touch of his old and famous violin.

The solos rendered by Mlle. Helen Kelen on the piano and the numbers given by Florence Alice Stiffel in her wonderfully clear and sweet voice won the applause and admiration of all. A more accomplished trio of artists of this sort would be hard to find and the community was indeed fortunate to be privileged to listen to their classic numbers.

Friday evening—Very cool with a large crowd in attendance. O'Hara & Wetmore were the leaders on the evening's program. Geoffrey O'Hara appeared first, giving a short entertainment consisting of original and other songs of all varieties, from lyrical ballads of Shakespeare's time to the present-day rag-time music. Mr. O'Hara had a good tenor voice and was a good actor as well, giving much expression to his Irish songs.

Wing-Tabor Wetmore was a laugh from start to finish in his clever impersonations of male and female alike. He had a wide range of character sketches in which he excelled.

As a pair, O'Hara & Wetmore were bright and clever entertainers, closing their part of the program with a ludicrous minstrel show.

The lecturer of the evening was Arthur Delroy, president of the New York Psychic Club and an eminent authority on psychology and character development. His psychic lecture illustrated by demonstrations, which together he called "A Psychic Melange," was something everyone has often wondered about and was glad to have explained. He demonstrated character reading by writing and by palmistry, explained hypnotism and exposed the fakes of the slight-of-hand performers who were so common. He said there was indeed such a thing as psychology, but that it could not be supported to the extent that some people were prone to carry it. In fact, Mr. Delroy's lecture and demonstrations were highly instructive, amusing and entertaining.

Saturday afternoon—The opening of the third day's session showed that the Chautauqua was becoming more popular as evidenced by the steadily increasing crowd with each new program.

The afternoon's entertainment was furnished by Dunbar's Southern Singers consisting of a quartet of four young ladies from Georgia. The program included many old southern melodies and lullabies. It was a rare treat to hear these old favorites rendered by so thoroughly capable a quartet. One of the quartet gave readings, both heroic and humorous, which were pleasingly rendered and enjoyed by all. The banjoist was highly entertaining with his banjo solos and accompaniments.

Saturday night—A musical prelude was given by Dunbar's Southern Singers much after the order of the afternoon's program, followed by a lecture recital by Mr. Ward. Mr. Ward is a famous Shakespearean actor and as such was peculiarly fitted to lecture on his subject of "Shakespeare and His Plays." Mr. Ward in his lecture would often pause to give a dramatic recital of lines from the famous plays and was thus able to vividly picture to his audience how great and good was the motive of the greater writer. Mr. Ward said that no where outside of the Bible could be found any writings of so moral a character as those of Shakespeare. The people really felt that they had met and known the great writer himself after listening to the highly educational lecture of his life and plays.

Sunday afternoon—A concert of music that would be hard to excel, was given by Victor's Florentine Band Sunday afternoon. The band was well skilled in the most difficult of band marches, overtures and dances, and together with the pleasing manner of the leader, Signor De Carlo, made the concert an enjoyable one. The program was varied somewhat by the introduction of the Neapolitan Troubadours in native costume, who played the soft light music of guitar and mandolin, accompanied by the young tenor soloist of the Boston Opera Company in his Italian solo selections.

Following the concert, Dr. Eldid B. Rogers gave a lecture on "A Living or a Life." He advises the editor that the young and stated that men should live to the end of their lives as a living as represented by the almighty dollar. In his talk he gave a dramatic representation of what war was like and ended by saying that if the United States should ever come to war she would fight until her last man should fall. Those who heard Dr. Rogers will not soon forget his advice or fail to be inspired by his uplifting discussion of man's duty to himself and his country.

Sunday evening—The program Sunday evening was just music, music, music, of the highest class. The true lover of music found satisfaction in listening to the music of Victor's Florentine Band and Neapolitan Troubadours. The audiences must surely have enjoyed the afternoon concert for the big tent was nearly full in the evening, about 700 being present. A short intermission was taken in which to solicit subscription for next year's Chautauqua and 307 were obtained in the evening. A living as represented by the almighty dollar. In his talk he gave a dramatic representation of what war was like and ended by saying that if the United States should ever come to war she would fight until her last man should fall. Those who heard Dr. Rogers will not soon forget his advice or fail to be inspired by his uplifting discussion of man's duty to himself and his country.

Monday afternoon—Marguerite de Forest Anderson has been quoted as the world's greatest flautist accompanied on the piano by Barrington Branch gave the musical program of the afternoon. Her manner was very pleasing and the student of music could well appreciate how entirely she was mistress of her instrument. She gave Gipsy, Scottish, and Hungarian selections together with popular songs and melodies of the long ago. She endeavored to please, and she did please.

Following the joint recital of Miss Anderson and Mr. Branch, Andre Tridon, gave a lecture on "An Inside View of Mexico." In his lecture Mr. Tridon told in a very plain way just what was the trouble with Mexico today. He stated that there was no revolution in Mexico, and never had been. He analyzed the conditions there stating that the 15,000,000 population 11,000,000 were unable to read or write. He also stated that Americans with landed interests there had helped to promote the internal strife on account of peculiar circumstances. He said that if America ever was obliged to interfere that we should do it with a spirit of helpfulness and pity as aiding a nation that had long been in the dark, not with the cry "down with Mexico," but "Long Live Mexico."

He said that "our own brother's keeper" and that we should aid our unfortunate neighbor rather than distress her.

Monday evening—The closing evening of the Chautauqua brought forth probably the largest attendance of any of the concerts given.

O'Hara & Wetmore, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., was the star of the evening and gave the Chautauqua concerts a crowning success. Miss Sparkes had been enthusiastically advertised as a wonderful singer and no one was disappointed. She sang several of our good old American songs in her sweet and beautifully clear soprano voice, closing the program in a very appropriate manner by singing, by request "Home Sweet Home."

An intermission was taken as on the evening before and about 30 more season tickets were pledged for next year's Chautauqua concerts. And we are to have the Chautauqua with us again next year. E. N. Swett made a few remarks stating the position the ticket committee had been placed in and delivering the contract for the next year, which had 67 signers today. The names of those giving on this year's contract together with the names of the signers on next year's contract were read to show just who had been instrumental in bringing the Chautauqua here. Everyone has enjoyed these concerts and everyone is glad that the Chautauqua is to be with us again next year.

The Junior department of the Chautauqua was conducted by Miss Mantell, assisted by Mildred Holmes, Genevieve Barker, Marjorie Barker, Ruth Cummings, and Marion Haskell. Each morning at 9 o'clock the children met at the Fair Grounds and enjoyed the healthy sport of body training through games. Miss Mantell introduced several novelties in the game line, including girls' baseball, relay races, squirrel in the hole, and partner tag. In the afternoon after the concerts the children stayed for story hour and all enjoyed the stories told by Miss Mantell. Monday morning they were given a bacon bat or picnic breakfast. Between 60 and 70 of the children were present at each meeting and all grew very fond of Miss Mantell, hoping that she would return again next year. After the concert Monday evening the local men interested held a meeting to organize and elect officers for the 1917 season. Those elected were:

Pres.—E. N. Swett.
1st Vice Pres.—Geo. Eastman.
